WE NOMINATE

The thousands upon thousands of men and women who over the past half-century — as unsung volunteers and long-working officers and committee chairmen — have enabled the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross to forge a record of selfless service matched in only a handful of communities across these United States. This Thursday evening (September 17) Princeton Today and the Princeton of Decades Gone will combine forces in observing the 50th anniversary of the founding and chartering of the Princeton Chapter as the first Red Cross organization brought into being in the entire State of New Jersey.

While the emphasis at tomorrow's gathering at the Nassau Inn will be on the needs of the moment and the Chapter's aspirations for raising its standards of service even higher, memories of two World Wars, of the Korean Conflict, of disaster relief, and of ventures untried by any other Red Cross Unit anywhere will come flooding to the fore. Reminiscences about the Chapter's early years, which originally covered all of Mercer County exclusive of Trenton, will be balanced by the achievements of World War II and the on-going development of the Princeton Blood Donor Service, the only community-wide free blood program in this country.

The Blood Donor Service, inaugurated in 1949 and the most dramatic of the dozen major activities being carried forward by the Chapter, has had only one concern since it was a gleam in its sponsors' eyes — the provision of free blood for Princeton Hospital's patients regardless of the quantity or type of blood required. The impact of this "wonderfully human" Red Cross-Hospital venture in the lives of 100's can hardly be measured by statistics, but it should be noted that nearly 17,000 transfusions in 15 years represent a conservatively estimated $700,000 worth of life-saving transfusions.

Year-in and year-out the Red Cross, a "partner" in the Princeton United Community Fund since 1962, has "made news." In 1912 Princeton was proclaimed the first Chapter in the nation to meet its fund-raising quota; in five World War II years it oversubscribed its combined dollar quotas by more than 50% and, between the fall of France and V-J Day, its membership soared from 777 in 1940 to 15,000-plus in 1945. In 1953 the Gray Ladies expanded their efforts to include the N. J. Neuro-Psychiatric Institute and two years ago the Junior Red Cross began its work with the N. J. Association for Retarded Children.

A little-known chapter in the history of the Chapter's World War II operations accentuates the kind of effective leadership with which it has been endowed since it was first "called to order" in 1914 by John Grier Hibben, 14th president of the University. Princeton's Camp and Hospital Council, drawing support from businesses, service clubs and volunteers in four New Jersey counties, did such an outstanding job in providing urgently needed recreational facilities at Fort Dix that it was hailed as a "Model Council" and procedures were meticulously copied in all sections of the country.

For understanding that "it is not enough to do good; one must do it right away"; for their wholehearted adherence to the basic principle of "extending a helping hand"; for meriting the gratitude and admiration of generations of fellow Princetonians; these are our nominees as

WE NEED ROOM!
And More Room . . . The house was good enough when it was newer and the family was smaller, but now, even with the kids doubled up, there aren't enough bedrooms and with the old roof and the old furnace, it isn't worth while to remodel . . .

This familiar home-owner's dilemma has become, more and more, a municipal dilemma. Both the communities that are "Princeton" find themselves girdled in by tight quarters that scarcely give them room to breathe, much less to work, and regardless of what the consolidation study recommends, both Princetons must move soon toward room . . . and more room.

In fact, the Township must make a move by November 1—only six weeks from now. The zoning and building officer, Wilbert J. Shinn, has been operating out of an office in the Stony Brook building that belongs to the Township School Board. The Board now needs Mr. Shinn's office for its new assistant superintendent of schools and Mr. Shinn has no place to go.

"We are in dire need of space," reports Joseph R. Nitti, Township Administrator. "Police, engineering and health are the departments that suffer most, and of course, Mr. Shinn."

More "Open Space." In an "open space study" submitted last December, architects Diehl and Stein informed the Township that it will need three times the amount of space it now has, in order to govern a municipality of 20-25,000 by the year 1975.

Right now, there are 4,178 "functional" and 4 available square feet of Township office space. Diehl and Stein recommend 14,591. If the school board administrative space were added, so that everybody could be under one roof, the figure would be 17,775 square feet.

And there isn't a worker in Township Hall who doesn't yearn, right from the depths of his filing cabinet, for just one more square foot of working space.

At present, the Mayor of Princeton Township has no office. He used to but he was kicked out to make room for the assistant administrator when that post was created. Mr. Nitti, a cool individual who never exaggerates, says there isn't enough room in his office for even one more filing cabinet. The girls who work there as clerk-secretaries can scarcely swivel in their chairs for lack of space.

The secretary of the Township Board of Health has a desk in the hall, protected by a glass partition from winter winds and the noisy drunks occasionally brought in by the police. The Township engineer, their space troubles to each other. When the Township's meeting hall, but has spilled over that partition into the hall itself. The traffic violations clerk is now in the Township's meeting hall, too; in fact, that meeting hall sometimes seems like a room out of Edgar Allan Poe, with walls that are slowly, slowly closing in. And now, Mr. Shinn will probably move his desk and filing cabinet up there. Where else can he go?

ITS COZY INSIDE: Det. Sgt. Fred Porter of the Township Police Force works in an office measuring six by seven feet, and when he gets a suspect in there for questioning, it isn't exactly "open house." The lack of municipal open space is the subject of "This Is Princeton." (Staff Photo)

Police Too Crowded. But it is the Township police department that really suffers, and perhaps even more important, its clients. Police require a number of private cubicles where they can photograph, fingerprint, photograph and question their suspects away from the curious eyes of taxpayers in to pay a bill, or householders puzzled by a sewer problem.

To interrogate a suspect today, a policeman must ask his chief, James B. Campbell Jr., to get out of his office so that officer and suspect can go in, shut the door and confer in private.

Chief Campbell cannot very well use this time for a tour of his domain because police desks, radios and filing cabinets take up so much space that one more man in the room is seriously in the way.

Chief Campbell could go down the steps to chat with Mr. Nitti, but his office is the only quiet room in Township Hall where a polygraph machine can be set up for a lie detector test. So, if a second suspect is under police questioning, the Chief of Police and the Administrator can only take a walk outside and tell

WHO, ME? YES, YOU! Tintype taking will be part of the fun at Hopewell's Tercentenary Day this Saturday on the grounds of the Elementary School. The Victorian bathing suit will be all ready for you to stand behind, just like Anita McCoy (left) and Barbara Wood. Or, you can have your picture taken in your Tercentenary costume. The Polaroid photographer will hand you the tintype in 10 seconds. The photographer? A member of the Hopewell Elementary P.T.A.

They don't want a gay station. That one was beaten down some time ago.

And presumably they'd just as soon not have a poultry, a tanyard or a print shop back again the way they were during the early 19th century.

Yet, until the residents, the Planning and Zoning Boards, Mayor and Borough Council can get together and define and agree upon what should and should not be, Jugtown dwellers may be making many an other pilgrimage to Borough Hall. One suggested solution: a daylight-hours business only —except for all the obvious exceptions such as garages, welding shops, iron foundries and the like.

But Tuesday's meeting was amiable and the hope is that, before long, a proper definition of what Jugtown wants can be written and acted upon. To the benefit of all concerned, especially those who have to sit on those rickety, narrow chairs.

Water Pressure. Another item to come before Mayor and Council was the application by the Princeton Water Co. to the PUC for a rise in water rates. The application was based on the company's extensive expenditures and improvements in the system (e.g. throughout the long, hot summer no restrictions had to be placed on water use).

The water company contends that the requested increase would amount to only about $1.35 per household per month. But, to make sure that the pressure isn't getting too high, one councilman estimated the $1.35 extra would be a 50% increase for him. Councilmen Walker and Strayer were appointed a committee of two to find out if any action by council is called for.

Other matters which came up at Tuesday's meeting:

• October 4 through 9 has been designated as the fall Cleanup Week. Borough trucks will pick up anything one man can lift. Trash and other discard should be set out at the curb, in bundles where possible.

• Police report: Busy during August, especially keeping an eye on vacant houses. There were 336 houses checked twice a week, and the efficacy of the system is shown by the fact that there were no reports of breakings and enterings during the month.

• Traffic hazard: Councilman Walker urged the cooperation — Continued on Page 4

WHAT'S UNDESIRABLE?

Jugtown Faces Problem. At Tuesday night's meeting of Mayor and Council, residents of Jugtown turned out in large number to occupy what must be Princeton's most uncomfortable chairs and to discuss at some length the residential-business future of their area near Nassau and Harrison Streets.

Mayor and Council were both interested and patient in their chairs as properly upholstered. But, at the finish it was still only the beginning: "what's undesirable for Jugtown?" remains the unanswered question.

Jugtown residents don't want a liquor store. So the application for "The Brown Jug" has been withdrawn.

Hey, Up There!

We haven't yet
Enough wet

Well, at least we got some last Friday — almost two inches, the first real rain since July 12. It did much to break the drought but the ground is still dry. Cooler than normal for the next few days by several degrees — but nothing as chilly as the high 40's on Sunday that set the radiators humming and built fires in the grates. Light showers are possible over the weekend.

tion of borough, township and county in widening and improving Elm Road and The Great Road out to the Princeton Day Schools and to Stuart Country Day by next fall — maybe including a separate bicycle path. The Borough plans to do its part and hopes the township and county will do likewise.

• Funds needed. Councilman Sorenson got approval to ask the State for sufficient money to do a $18,000 rebuilding job on University Place from College Road around to Alexander Street. Of this, the Borough would pay 10%.

• Index to Ordinances. Councilman Carriek announced the publication, after two years' preparation, of the codification of Borough ordinances. Copies will be on sale in the office of Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney, and a copy will go to the public library.

• Liquor violation. Tash's will be booted shut for 25 days effective September 24 because of a sale-to-minor violation.

• Liquor transfer. Yeaman's has applied for a transfer of its license from 108 Nassau to 84 Nassau. Action on the request will be taken at the Council's October meeting.

TWO HOMES ARE ENTERED

In the Borough. Two homes were entered last week and ransacked. Borough police reported.

Miss Lorraine La Placa, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles La Placa, 302 Nassau St. told police Monday that upon returning home from school she found the house had been ransacked. Her parents had been out of town for the day, she said.

Police investigated and disclosed that entry was gained by breaking a window in a rear French door. Detective Robert McAvonia, who is investigating, reported that, so far, the police have been unable to determine if anything had been taken.

Last Friday, Dr. John B. Barholter, 219 Prospero Avenue, called to report that his house had been entered and an upstairs bedroom ransacked. As far as they can determine, police said, the only thing taken from the room was $2 in cash.

Police said that the thief entered by prying a bathroom window open and crawling floor after failing to force open a breezeway door on the west side of the house. Detective McAvonia questioned a number of neighbors the following day and he reports making some progress.

MRS. KATZENBACH HURT. Car Wrecked in Trenton. Miss Marie H. Katzenbach, of 35 South Lantz, was severely injured last Thursday when her car rammed into the State Education Building in Trenton. Mrs. Katzenbach, State Board of Education president and mother of Acting U. S. Attorney General Nicholas, told Katzenbach is reported as still being in serious condition at Mercer Hospital.

State police reported that Mrs. Katzenbach's 1973 car smashed into the back of the new building on West State Avenue. The car, apparently backed from its parking place into a small truck, then sped forward, crossed a four-foot divider and hit the building.

Mrs. Katzenbach, widow of former State Attorney General Edward L. Katzenbach, was attorney general, became acting attorney general when Robert F. Kennedy resigned to run for the U. S. Senate from New York. VAN. SCHOOL, BUS TOUCH. On Route 206. No one was injured. Continued on Page 12

MCCARTER PLAYBILL

Noted: For Fall, Robert Blackburn, whose Othello and Petruchio will be remembered by Princeton audiences from last spring, will show his director's hand this fall. He has been given the director's assignment for "Death of a Salesman" which will open the Fall Drama Series for McCarter on Thursday, October 1, at 7:30. For the drama series, Hugh Hardy has designed a new stage unit replacing the Festival Stage that served for Shakespeare last spring.

This fall, McCarter will work with members of the American Theater Company (Mr. Blackburn is one of the founders). ATC members who will be in residence include Jan Ferland, William Swetland, Eve Roberts, David Tress, Frank Shaw Stevens, Louis Zorich, Tom Brennan, Laurie Gould, Neil Burnside, Olive Dunbar, Michael M. Ryan and Mr. Blackburn.

• The night after McCarter opens its fall drama series, an old friend will return to the McCarter stage. Carlos Montoya, flamenco guitarist, will make his fifth appearance in Princeton on Friday, October 2, having appeared here first in the fall of 1959.

• The following Monday, "Spoon River" in Charles Aidman's adaptation, will appear at McCarter for a single performance. Edgar Lee Masters' "Anthology" in this version was a surprise hit of the 1962-63 Broadway season.

• And, of course, Emlyn Williams "as Charles Dickens" will make his north American tour in McCarter on Monday, September 28.

• Movie fans will look forward to the September Film Festival. (See "Calendar," page 6.)

YOU'RE INVITED

To Meet Community Players. Princeton's community theatre group, Princeton Community Players, will hold its first meeting of the new season on Sunday, September 27, at 8:00 p.m. in Murray Theatre on the University campus.

Everyone interested in community theatre is invited to attend, meet the Players, learn about the organization, and hear about plans for the coming year.

Three major productions, an acting workshop, reading and one-act plays at the New Strand Theatre are among the projects to be considered.

THE PRINCE

Robin and the 7 Hoods (now through Tuesday) is another entry in the continuing series of spoofs made by that well-known bunch of middle-aged men formerly known as the "Rat Pack." Sinatra and his cohorts have been responsible for some rather weak pictures since the success of "Ocean's 11" and "Robin and the 7 Hoods" isn't much better.

The legend of Robin Hood is updated to the 1920s with Frankie, Dean Martin and Sammy Davis Jr. cast as benevolent hoodlums on Chicago's North Side. The boys laugh their way through the film and even throw in a few songs like the funniest hour is Peter Falk, a rival gangster in the city. The pure and simple Maid Marion has been sharply downgraded through the centuries, and is now totally without morals or scruples, as played by Barbara Rush.

It's obvious that everybody always had a great deal of fun making these pictures, and it's time someone got smart and decided to let the moviegoers in on the fun, too.

PLAYHOUSE

A House Is Not a Home (through Tuesday) is the anisotropic autobiography of Polly Aldrich, who ran the finest sporting house in Manhattan during the '20s and '30s. Her establishment made present day Playboy Clubs seem like Cub Scout dens.

After Fiorella La Guardia finally put the clamp on Polly's parlors in 1945, she got out at U.C.L.A. and three years later, with an assist by a competent speller and adequate grammarian, published her thesis: "A House Is Not a Home." It sold like crazy—not because of its literary excellence, but because of its particular brand of ludicrous fabricry.

What Polly told in her best-seller thesis has now been translated into a strictly run-

Matinee (through Tuesday) amply illustrates the fact that the Mafia, in one way or another, always takes care of its own. It never forgets a favorite "little son" — or any member who violates its rigid code of silence.

Alberto Sordi, Mafia apprentice, takes a combined pleasure and business trip to Sicily with his family. The pleasure turns out to be minimal, the business Mafia.

Sordi is "rewarded" with another assignment: to dust off the old Mafia in the United States. This he does, then returns from his vacation as if nothing more exciting had happened to him than a one-day excursion to Capri.

"Mafioso" gets high marks as a laughing-on-the-outside crying-on-the-inside study of the Mafia in the United States. The Honored Society, Sordi, the diverting, vigorous hero, and

SOPRANO TO SING
In Westminster Recital, Monique de la Torre, young coloratura from Madrid, will give the first in a series of 15 free public recitals to be presented this year by Westminster Choir College. She will appear in the Chapel of the College Monday at 8 p.m.

For her program, Miss de la Torre has chosen a variety of songs ranging from 16th century English to contemporary Spanish. The soprano has toured extensively in Europe,
South America and the South Africa and appeared in the first Madrid Performance of "L'Aentandia," by de Falla. She was also chosen by Joaquin Rodrigo and Gerardo Cambou, Spanish composers, to give the premiere performances of two of their works.

SIGN UP, SINGERS

For Opera Auditions. All singers in the Princeton area are invited to auditions this Saturday for the Princeton Opera Association workshop, and the Associations Professional Performing Company.

Auditions will be held starting at 2 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, Palmer Square. Singers have been asked to call 924-4284 or 921-2148 to make appointments and to discuss the number and kinds of arias they expect to sing.
The Association is interested in voices of all kinds and ranges.

Igor Chicago, musical director of the Association and also musical director of the Baltimore Civic Opera Association, will hear the auditions.
Last year, the Princeton Opera Association appeared in Philadelphia, Trenton and New Brunswick as well as in Princeton, and the group has a similar series of events planned for 1964-65.

IT'S NEW To Us

IT'S NEW INSIDE
Gift Shop Re-opens. Fine pewter, walnut accessory pieces, jewelry and all those wonderful greeting cards (one of the few collections in town that isn't all "rick") are still the star attractions at the Princeton Gift Shop on Palmer Square. But the delightful remodeling and redecorating job that's been done inside makes everything look new.

Within the same space, the decorators have, somehow, created more space. Serene blue-green carpeting widens the shop from wall to wall and blue-green pegboard combines with deep walnut paneling to provide display space that is light, yet warm.

Against the walnut, the Gift Shop shows off its newest and proudest—a collection of English pewter pieces made from the original 18th century molds. Lift, and feel the weight of a pair of five-inch-tall candlesticks ($35), bearing the signature of the surveyor of the Fabric of St. Paul's.

Turn in your hand the presentation bowl, eight inches across with its half-inch etched border around the rim and the base of the pedestal ($50). Or, examine with an eye to practical, everyday use the charming pewter candlestick shaped like a low sherbet cup with a hidden insert to hold the candle.

Pewter mugs from England come in four sizes, ranging upward from a one-ounce, and upward in price from $5. These are traditional mugs, swelling slightly from the base and narrowing toward the top. A straight-sided pewter mug has been shaped for use as a baby cup.

Moving along in time to the contemporary, Princeton Gift continues to assemble really fine pieces of jewelry designed for modern tastes. Brushed silver is the medium as a rule, although standard finishes in sterling and gold are used for some of the designs.

A single pearl is the focal point for several new items in the collection: here it is with in a brushed silver heart, there it appears within a four-bar silver cage. Again, it lies within the minute bowl of a long-handled spoon earring.

Tortoise shell makes the cat whose arched back follows the line of a shining silver pin. The tortoise inlay and the silver make an unusual and effective contrast.

For the home, Princeton Gift suggests walnut. Cylindrical book-ends, a nutcracker shaped like an acorn, nested bowls, a decorative mortar and pestle. We like the white leather bar accessories for an informal playroom. Square, round or oval leather flask covers have been treated to primary colors that make the white look even whiter.

Autumn leaves in red, bronze and gold—real ones—have been artfully embedded in the

Note In Two

Pierced ears are so general around Princeton that you can actually hear the wind whistling through all the little holes.

They tell us at Princeton Gift Shop, Palmer Square, that they can't keep enough pierced earrings in stock to satisfy the customers. Some dangle—the earrings, not the customers—but most are simply ornaments that lie fetchingly against the lobe, mysteriously without means of support, unless you know about the pierce.

Bits of jade, tiny dots of black onyx or green onyx, carnelian, and all the others are enchanting members of the pierced family. You may even buy a little gold horseshoe, or a free-form in gold or silver. All are attached to 14-karat gold. Price range: $6.50 to $15.

clear plastic of book-ends and paperweights.

V'S IN

Crew? Out! The man with a V-neck? The man with out! That's the word this fall from Princeton Clothing. Witherspoon. We learned the cold truth when we stopped in to buy a crew-neck sweater and found that, well, yes, they had them—for squares and the like—but why not try a V? Actually, the Jantzen V-neck pullovers and cardigans are sufficiently appealing to make a man forget crew altogether. We found all-wool Shetlands in colors like that wonderful greeny-brown, a good dry Burgundy, camel in all shades and even navy. An especially good tweedy mixture bleeds heathery tones of grey, pale blue, a touch of coral and even violet, if you peep closely.

Cardigans with V neck closings, are without the usual front knit band; straight all the way. That Burgundy appears again, along with an Art-style style in browns and golds. "Autumn," they call it, to the surprise of no one. There's a Scandinavian cardigan, too. Tartans are back in sports shirts and ties at Princeton Clothing. Wool, cotton flannel or daron-and-cotton shirts will keep your good Scott warm as oatmeal.

In sports jackets ($35 to $47.50 in this shop), the heathery tones of olive and grey predominate, sometimes overlaid with a soft windowpane check in rust, sometimes etched in regular herringbone.

Camel, olive and navy are the biggest outerwear colors, and Loden cloth and poplin are the biggest fabrics. Corduroy? No! That was last year. (Who says women are fickle!) Corduroy slacks, though—that's another matter. Levi, cotton corduroys and daron-cotton make Princeton Clothing's favorite leisure-time slacks.

And in time for snow... reversible ski parka, nylon inside and out. Royal or red would stand out against the slope.

FAKE AND LOVELY

Warm, Too, Like Beaver? Then buy a coat that's like beaver. The French Shop, ("Chez Marcelle," in the 20 1/2 St. set building) has the most splendidly fake fur coats, styled toward formality as casual wear, and quite appropriate for either grand-mother or grand-mother.

That beaver ($60) is a full-length coat which buttons to the chin and to a wide collar. Another beaver style has a shawl collar, if you like that best.

Astrakhan in shaded silver grey, black or brown is the most formal coat in the collection, held by ribbon (with buttons) and rounded off with a wide collar. It's $120 in full length.

called Braxzato—and where its gone into another coat, native habitus is, don't ask. This one is definite pile, rather than the long hair of the Braxzato—is longer in the hair, and otta. Its creamy white, velvety nap repeats in the seal brown cuffs and the deep hood that curves around the throat to go down the front as a band. No.

More white and less silver.

buttons on this one. Many of these coats come in short lengths as well, restyled here and there to match the abbreviation. For example, the coat mentioned above doesn't have the big hood.

The French Shop moves out of fur and into knit with a collection from Italy that features unusual color combinations. Cherry and mauve (or kelly and grey) get along fine in a three-piece knit. Mauve overblouse is trimmed with cherry flames that dart up from the hemline.

Textured royal purple and black frame a deep purple overblouse in one suit, and royal blue teams with black in another; this one characterized by royal-black stripes.

For a cold-weather day, choose French Shop's seven-eighths length reversible jacket in moose-gold-trust with a gold-terry lining and detachable hood. A gold jersey blouse and green skirt complete the ensemble.

The cape suit in pale grey and coral plaid has a good kick-pleat skirt to wear when you swing down the street in the cape.

Knit suits start at $45 and continue to $110.

Winter coats at The French Shop are English in feeling, Harris Tweed in petite or regular sizes, will remind you of an autumn moor. A cashmere emu coat—the collar-scarf cushions the neck, takes you back to French inspiration, however, and a heavy poplin lined with arlon pile is strictly American.

Round-Up

UNPRECEDENTED is one word to describe the parade of would-be voters to register at Borough and Township Halls for this November's election. Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney says that this has been the situation all summer, that 25 to 30 people have been showing up almost every day. . . . Same thing in the Township Clerk Joseph R. Nini, who chooses the adjective "astounding" to characterize the rush.

Reason? Mostly because of the liberalization of New Jersey voting requirements since 1960, which now allow voting eligibility for President to any adult resident in the county for a period of 40 days prior to November 3.

WEATHER last week was singularly pleasant here. For one thing, it rained (1.60 inches, and the first of any merit since July 13. For another, it cooled off (from a high of 80 degrees on Friday to a high of 62 on both Saturday and Sunday).

Jersey shore promoters want the weather bureau to be more cheerful in its forecasts by saying "partly sunny" instead of "partly cloudy," and by omitting all references to "possible showers." . . . Right now, Princetonians would settle for "rain, today, tomorrow and the next day," if it only would rain when predicted.

A COLLEGE for Mercer County, designed to handle 1,500 full-time students and 3,000 part-time, that is the recommendation of the County College Study Committee headed by Dr. Simon Marsden of 36 Marion Road East . . .

Estimated cost, $6,000,000 for a two-year institution, offering day, night and extension courses. . . . Possible location: between Princeton and Hightstown. . . . Probable opening date: not in the foreseeable future.

TWO PRINCETONIANS who don't have a chance of winning an Olympic medal themselves are vitally important in helping determine whether the U.S. athletes win or lose in Tokyo come October 12. . . . One is Dr. Harry R. Myrberg, this country's chief Olympic physician, who has already solved the ever-present problem of good water. He has already checked Tokyo's tap water, reports say, and found it to be perfect.

The second is Irwin W. Weiss, multiple sports coach and official here and elsewhere.

As chairman of the 1964 Olympic Fund in New Jersey, Weiss raised some $45,000, highest ever raised in the state, to help finance the trip. And, as night as star of "To Tell the Men in Tokyo in charge of the U.S. track and lodge for the U.S."

"Food really won't be much of a problem," he says. "It will be Japanese food all right, but it will be made into American dishes." . . . How can you change sukiyaki into corned beef hash seems like an insupportable assignment, and it would take a man like Irwin Weiss to do it.

seriously injured last Wednesday afternoon when a closed van and a school bus locked outside mirrors on Route 206, a mile north of the Township police station.

The mishap was reported to the police by Peter Ochs, 21, 2017 Hall, Princeton University, driving the van north on Route 206. He told Township Police as he passed a school bus traveling in the opposite direction, the outside mirrors of both vehicles touched each other and were smashed.

Pieces of shattered glass hit Ochs and four students — Cathy Wenzard, Sue Ann Perone, both 16, Barbara Milacki, 9, and Carol Milacki, 7, Ochs was treated at the University infirmary. The driver of the bus was George Trask, 38, of Skillman. He later told police he thought, at the time, that something had fallen from the top of the bus or a stone had been thrown up, striking his mirror.

FRENCH TO FOLK MUSIC

Big Choice at Adult School. Starting with an "open house" this Thursday from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the high school, the Princeton Adult School will officially open its fall term next week on September 24. All prospective students are invited to this Thursday's session for in-person registration and to discuss plans and materials needed for the first class on the 24th.

On this year's curriculum at the Adult School are many workshop classes in handicrafts, of which "Fundamentals of Design" promises to be one of the most exciting and challenging. This course, through the use of paint, collage materials, dark pencil, wire, metal and texture, size and shape.

Mrs. Margaret K. Johnson, an instructor in painting and design fundamentals at New York's Museum of Modern Art, will conduct the course. A LEAGUE SEEKS FUNDS: Expanded activities extending into West Windsor and Montgomery Townships mean that the Princeton League of Women Voters needs more cash. These three members of the League's finance committee are working on plans to simplify the non-partisan organization's voter services. member of the National Committee on Art Education, she has taught in schools across the country and is a graduate of Pratt Institute with an advanced degree from the University of Michigan.

Also in handicrafts will be a ceramics workshop, for both beginners and advanced students, conducted by Mrs. H. R. Johnson, formerly associated with such artisans as George Jensen, Bunniers, Curving Glass Works and Oneida Silversmiths. The sculpture workshop will again be under the charge of H. Kempton Williams, and Mrs. Peter Williams will give a course in tailoring.

Other classes include one for beginners on the guitar, with Mrs. Yvonne Aronson as instructor. Also, classes for intermediate guitarists will be given by Mrs. Narge Seeger, wife of the folk singer Mike Seeger, of the New Lost City Ramblers. A long-time student of folk music, Mrs. Seeger says that her main interest is in the traditional country music in Blue Grass and Carter Family style.

In addition there will be exercise classes for women, typing classes for beginners, and elementary and intermediate bridge lessons. There will be beginners' classes (as well as some intermediate and advanced) in French, Italian, Spanish, German and Russian. Since most of the classes in the Adult School are of extremely limited size, early registration is urged. Total enrollment is expected to exceed 1,000, according to the school's directors.

PLAN $300,000 BUILDING

For Gallup & Robinson, Inc. formal plans for a $300,000 office building to house Gallup and Robinson, Inc. in Princeton Research Park were laid before the Township Planning Board Monday night.

Frank Reiche, attorney for G. & R., asked for and received tentative approval of the plan. G. & R. would like to present its formal, detailed plans to the Board on October 12.

The building would be a three-story brick Colonial structure to be erected on a five-acre piece of land north of the New Jersey Bankers Association Building near Harrison and Ewing.

Gallup and Robinson hopes to break ground this year and to complete the structure by next August, when the firm's lease on its office at 44 Nassau Street will expire.

THE MAN WHO ...

Campaign Begins. Democrats in Borough and Township released their first broadsides in the fall campaign this week, and announced that, together, they would staff an office at 82 Nassau, above the former "Bail" restaurant.

In the Borough, Democrats are presenting Nicholas J. Bartolino and Enoch J. Durbin for Council and in the Township, William Sloane for the single seat available on Township Committee.

A formal platform was released this week by Township Democrats, who stress their backing of the national ticket. Locally, they cite recreation, housing and planning, human rights, consolidation and bipartisan representation as issues.

Mr. Sloane urges Township Committee to provide teenage recreation facilities, managed in part by youngsters themselves as leadership training. He also favors a municipal swimming pool.

In housing and planning, Mr. Sloane asks continuing consultation with Borough and University on increasing traffic, building plans and related developments.

Township Democrats urge the appointment of a civil rights board to hear complaints and refer violations to the proper authority, although they salute the work of FAIR and other private groups.

In the Borough, Mr. Bartolino charges that "the social needs of our young people are being short-changed." He praises the work of recreation volunteers, but says that "it is a disservice to the community to suggest that an adequate, overall job is being done."

Mr. Durbin, states his belief that Princeton lags in facing the critical problems of building and conservation, traffic flow, recreation and civil rights, accusing the Republican administration of a "why bother?" attitude toward planning the future of Princeton.

BIRTHS

Twins born. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Smith of 6 Rumson Road, Kendall Park, became the parents of twin boys on September 12 at Princeton Hospital. In all, 18 children were born at the hospital last week. Eleven were boys.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce H. Edmonson, 107 Washington Road, September 6; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Terefsky, Perrineville; Mr. and Mrs. John R. Henderson, 206 Varsity Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Bilow, 50 Main Street, Kingston, all on September 8; Mr. and Mrs. Russell L. Habeeb, 106 River Drive, Titusville, September 10; Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Jones, 17 Empress Lane, Trenton, September 11; and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ware, 5 Margerum Court, September 12.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Edith Beckerman, 8 Dall on Road, Kendall Park, September 6; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Brown, Brunswick Pike; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Seip, Dubrow Hill Road, Hightstown, and Mr. and Mrs. Elhu Abrams, 188 Clover Lane, all on September 8; Mr. and Mrs. Ian Hay, Philbey Drive, Hightstown, September 9; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore J. Uory, Cold Soil Road, Lawrenceville, September 10; Mr. and Mrs. William T. Porter, 215 Academy Street, Hightstown, September 11; Mr. and Mrs. William R. Dowd, 109 Susan Drive, Trenton, and Mr. and Mrs. George R. Abrams, Manlove Avenue, Hightstown, both on September 12.

A son, Jay Scott, was born September 1 to Mr. and Mrs. David Nydyck of Somerville in Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield. Mr. Nydyck is assistant superintendent of schools, Princeton Township.

through the day and evening until the close of an outdoor dance sponsored by the Teen-age Canteen. Hopewell's Jaycees are in charge, with Dr. Donald McCoy serving as chairman.

During the day there will be a baby parade, a pet show, a flower show by members of the Hopewell Valley Garden Club and art exhibit by the Woosamonsa Art Group. Booths will be decorated with the "Tercenary motif, and everyone who mans a booth will be in costume.

At 8 p.m. the Rutgers University ROTC Color Guard, dressed in historic New Jersey Blues, will open a pageant depicting the history of the Hopewell Valley. More than 50 residents of the area will take part in the pageant, which is under the direction of Mrs. C. S. Papier of Pennington.

Musicians from Trenton local No. 62, directed by Charles H. Wertman of Trenton, will play band music to accompany the pageant, and the Hopewell Valley Chorus will sing.

Fireworks will follow the pageant, and the evening will close with the Teenage Canteen dance.

UNIVERSITY PREVIEW

Freshman Week In Progress
Princeton University's entering Class of 1963, with 816 members, started Monday on the annual one-week freshman indoctrination. At their first meeting, the freshmen were greeted by President Robert F. Goheen (who put it squarely on the line by telling the new men that "your experience here will be just as rich and fruitful as you choose to make it"), and by other members of the administration and undergraduate leaders.

The balance of the first week's activities includes registration, general orientation ("How do I find 50 Mc Cosh?") and meetings with faculty advisors ("But, sir, they just don't teach any middle-west in Greek out at Albuquerque High").

OLYMPIC DIVER: Lesley Bush, Princeton High School senior, who is now in Colorado training with the U.S. Olympic diving team for competition next month in Tokyo, celebrating her 17th birthday this Thursday, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bush, 244 Dodds Lane.

An innovation of this year's Freshman Week are the student-faculty forums — or fora if you prefer — which are a series of hour-long lectures and discussions on University programs in the arts, humanities, and the social and physical sciences. A total of 11 such meetings, open to all freshmen are being held. The 816 first-year men, selected from nearly 5,000 applicants, represent 422 states, District of Columbia and 11 foreign countries. New York, with 132, and New Jersey, with 121, are the states with the highest representation; Pennsylvania is third with 90 members.

The new class enters from 501 different schools, with 370 the sole representatives of their secondary schools. Nearly six out of ten freshmen come from public schools, with 42% from independent schools. On the roster of new men are 117 school valedictorians and 141 class presidents. Some 68 are candidates for the A.B. degree, 23% are heading for the B.S.E. degree in the School of Engineering — and about 40% of the total will be receiving some sort of financial assistance through scholarships, student loans and work opportunities.

NEED A DESK? OR BEDS?

University Auction Has Them. With stacks of student furniture scheduled to go on the block on Saturday, buyers from miles around are expected to descend on the University's second annual auction of discarded (but sturdy) undergraduate goods and chattels. The sale will start at 9 a.m., rain or shine, in the ROTC Armory near Palmer Stadium and continue until the last whatever has been sold.

Roy S. Vogt, director of purchasing at Princeton, says that an increase both in quantity and quality over last year's. Desks, bureaux, tables, beds, book cases and the like will be auctioned off by Lester M. Slatoff & Son.

Last year's sale, which brought large crowds of buyers to the Armory, was "a great success," according to Mr. Vogt, who is organizing the event. Why the auction? It was

FUN IN WEST WINDSOR
Community Day This Week-end. The day: Saturday. The time: 10 a.m. to midnight. The event: West Windsor's Community Day, a full day of fun, food and facts, starting with a parade and ending with a dance, to help celebrate New Jersey's 300th birthday.
This is the merriest outline for Saturday's program in the township just southeast of Princeton. The details are even more enticing.

Opening salute will be the parade, from Princeton Junction railroad station to the new Manure Hawk School, at 10 a.m. At the head of the line of march will be the American Legion Post 93 band, followed by members of West Windsor's many township organizations.
At 11 a.m. Mrs. Mary Roehling, Trenton civic and business leader, will give a brief keynote address at the Hawk School. A band concert will follow.

At 11:30 a.m. the Midway will open with a wide assortment of booths, refreshments and rides, and at 11:45 a.m. the local industry and displays of historic interest will be ready for visitors. In among the various booths will be a voters registration, information and membership application desks provided by the West Windsor unit of the League of Women Voters.

A full schedule of field events with prizes for all ages will start at 1:30 p.m. And the celebration will wind up with a dance from 8 p.m. until midnight, with music by the Jazz Casuals.
The entire day is being staged on a "come one, come all" basis, young, old and in-between. That is the theme for Saturday at West Windsor's Community Day.

Facts You Should Know About Oriental Rugs

Basic forms of design in Oriental rugs:

The "Mina-Khan" design consists of circular rosettes combined with stems and leaves. The "Goleh-Henna" design combines small clusters of flowers of five petals. The "Shah-Abbas" motif is an all over design composed of classic motifs such as varied types of palmettes, cloud banks, birds, and vases. The Josshegan design is a classical design of repeated lozenge motifs encompassing an entire field. The willow tree design is one of the most prolific of ancient designs, alternating a willow and a poplar.

Person To Person

With all the talk and writings about use of our four letter words in modern literature, someone said, "I started a train of thought about some four letter words that are good. Take, for example, the word 'good.' Webster gives it a world of definition, some of which reads: Sufficient or satisfactory for its purpose. In excess; ample; full. Considerable; not insignificant; especially the phrase 'a good deal,' 'a good share,' etc. Possessing attractive qualities; kind; friendly. Well-behaved. Agreeable; pleasant. Adapted to a useful end; beneficial; as good advice. Proper; becoming. Virtuous; also pious or devout. Of a reliable character; hence valid; honest; sincere. Honorable; untainted. In unquestioned standing. Commercially sound or reliable, etc., etc." Quite a language we have when we can get so much meaning from one little four letter word, eh? And everyone always seems to know exactly which combination of meanings are intended. When our customers say we are good for them, we're sure they mean just about all of the above definitions because that's what we strive for. And once you give us the opportunity we'll prove it to you. Come in soon, please! Kommiler Buick-Pontiac Co., Route 206, open Princeton Airport, 921-2222.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Local governments do not operate in a national vacuum. Unless local parties take detailed public exception to their national programs and leaders, they can be expected to reflect national party policies.

It will be no surprise to those familiar with the record of the Princeton Democratic Party that our support of the Democratic national ticket is enthusiastic and wholehearted. We subscribe without reservation to the stands of President Johnson and Senator Humphrey for people and for peace.

But there is in the campaign of 1964 a serious question of where Republicans stand. Is the depressing silence from the Republican candidates for Borough Council due to embarrassment at being on the same ticket as Senator Goldwater and Representative Miller? Where do the local candidates stand on such vital things as the control of nuclear arms? At home, where do they stand on such basic things as social security and civil rights? Can they be "with" the new Republican leadership in looking backwards?

Well before November 3, Mr. Cerek, Mr. English and the Princeton Republican Party should let our community know whether they support the Goldwater-Miller ticket.

It cites as an example the fact that there is always an urgent need at local institutions for friendly people who are willing to spend an hour a week visiting those who are ill, or convalescent, or elderly. All that volunteer work of this kind requires, the center points out, is an ability to chat and share a few of your own experiences perhaps, and to listen.

Of course, if you do have a special talent, the center will be delighted to find an outlet for it whether it be sufficient skill to paint a mural or decorate a Christmas tree. Registration with the Volunteer Center can be made on weekdays, between 10 a.m. and noon, in person or by phone (924-5871).

TORN GOLDWATER GROUP

Decker is Chairman. A Princeton committee for the election of the Goldwater-Miller ticket has been formed here under the chairmanship of Robert C. Decker, of 193 Moore Street. In describing the objectives of the committee, Mr. Decker has said: "Contrary to the ultra-liberal New York Times, our committee believes that the election of Barry Goldwater is a necessity" in that our children and adults enjoy the same privilege that we did in the self-determination of the conduct of our daily lives. He adds: "Any other course leads to regimentation rather than regulation and strikes at our moral fiber and moral and spiritual courage — qualities upon which our great country was built." Mr. Decker said that he would announce within a few days the selection of a vice-chairman and other officers.

He indicated that, while a formal headquarters may be established, it would not be done at the sacrifice of funds required to provide literature and other materials for campaign workers. "We are not trying to run a big show," he added, "but rather a serious and truly citizens' campaign." Chairman of Goldwater-Miller committee have also been named for nearby communities. They include Gerald Skibbins, West Windsor; James Arlington; Joseph Tom Hamilton, of Hightstown; and Peter O'Hara, Pennington.

In the face of the response to his committee's establishment, Mr. Decker said: "I am beginning to really understand what is meant by 'grass roots' support. We fully intend to have enough to elect Barry Goldwater."

CLASSES ANNOUNCED

For Studio On Canal. The Princeton Art Association, formed last spring, is co-sponsor of the fall workshops and classes beginning Monday at the Studio on the Canal, Alexander Road.

Art Association members donating their services to the project are: Peter Cook, portraitist; H. Kempton Hastings, sculptor; and Mrs. Dagmar H. Trumble, watercolorist. On the studio's regular staff are Shirley Loret, children's painting and Linda Thorne, painter and sculptor who will conduct a ceramic sculpture workshop for children.

Hughie Lee-Smith, will hold advanced oil painting classes for adults, as well as a drawing and painting workshop for beginners and advanced students.

If enrollment is sufficient, the Art Association plans a morning and an evening sketch session, with a professional model.

TOPIC: MISSISSIPPI

Report on Summer Project. A public meeting will be held in the University's Alexander Hall next Wednesday at 8 p.m. to hear "Report from Mississippi," an evaluation of the Mississippi Summer Project. Guest speaker will be Nathan H. Schweener, father of Michael Schweener, one of three young men murdered there.

The program, sponsored by the Princeton Freedom Center and the University Undergraduate Council, will also include a folk singer and short talks by several of the people from Princeton who took part in the project.

There were 21 Princetonians participating in the Mississippi work during the summer. Seventeen are undergraduates here and four are residents: Lawrence Grauman Jr., Cold Soil Road; Mrs. Irma Gerjony, 139 Valley Road; Jay Lockard, 130 FitzRandolph Road; and Sheila Hatcher, 9 Shirley Court.

The activities of the Princeton Freedom Center have been financed by individuals, the local chapter of SANE and the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church trustees' fund.

WRPR ON THE AIR

For the 11th Year. WRPR, Princeton's undergraduate radio station, has begun its 24th year of campus broadcasting and its ninth year as a commmercial FM station. Operating with 17,000 watts, it is the third most powerful outlet in New Jersey, and its coverage extends into parts of New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Delaware.

WRPR is staffed entirely by undergraduates, many of whom spent the summer with professional radio stations. With most of its programs broadcast in multiplex stereo, WRPR features five different types of music, programs of special events and news broadcasts every half hour.

The station's FM signal is at 103.3 on the dial.

gers University for four years.
Parents who have enrolled their children at the nursery school will meet next Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Rocky Hill public school. Purpose of the meeting is to introduce parents and teacher and to outline the program for the year.

LIBRARY SETS HOURS
For Autumn, Winter. New residents of Borough and Township are invited to explore the Princeton Public Library and to sign up as members. With fall, the library has resumed its regular schedule of days and hours. They are:

- 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays
 - 9:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays
 - Closed on legal holidays.
- Patrons may return books when the building is closed, by dropping them in the slot on the Garden Theatre side of the library.

"ELEPHANTS" TO DANCE
Young and Republican. Invitations in a Young Republican "Elephant" Dance may still be obtained by calling Mrs. Samuel Lambert III, 521-3104. The event is scheduled for next Saturday, September 26, from 9 to 1 at the Present Day Club.

Bill Oliver and his band will play and free set-ups will be provided. Robert Dougherty will announce the winner of a drawing. (Mr. Dougherty, who has twice won cars at Hospital Pete drawings, has agreed not to compete in this one.) Miss Delores Sullivan is assisting Mrs. Lambert with dance preparations.

BUY A FLAG?

From a Rocky Hill Child.
Boys and girls in Rocky Hill have a goal: "A flag on every home." Youngsters in the community are offering American flags for sale to every house in Rocky Hill, hoping for total distribution by October 10, when Rocky Hill will have a tour of its historic homes.

For $3.50, the home-owner gets a cotton flag, three by five feet, a pole and brackets, an eagle to go on top of the pole, directions for flying the flag properly and a list of flag-flying holidays.

SCOUTS TO PICNIC
Grades 10-12 Invited. All girls in grades 10 through 12 who are interested in scouting are invited to attend a picnic lunch this Saturday from 11 to 1 at All Saints Chapel on Van Dyke Road.

The event is being sponsored by the Mariner Girl Scout Troop of Princeton, whose members will describe the troop's past activities and plans for the coming year.

Mrs. W. H. Beane and Mrs. Heath Liekhtler are in charge of the committee planning the picnic.

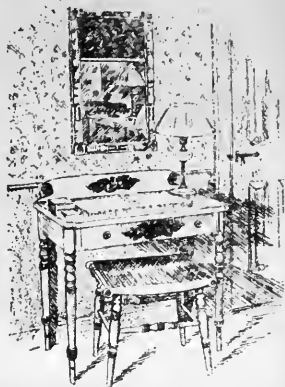

PENNINGTON PLANS FAIR

To Celebrate 300th. Pennington Borough will celebrate New Jersey's Tercentenary Year with a street fair to be held next Saturday, September 26, behind the Junior School, South Main Street. Rain date for the event, which will run from 1 to 10 p.m., is the following day.

Nearly all of the organizations and business enterprises in Pennington are taking part.

Thinking of a new hair style? How about something consistent with and complementary to your size and build?

The hair of a thin person, for example, is always pleasing if it is full, of medium length, and softly styled to frame the face. . . . A full figure might well call for a rounded, lifted hairdo that curls off the neck and sweeps upward. . . . Tall women can stand the flatter styles with short hair or sophisticated chignon or French twists with long hair. . . . If dainty and petite, a style that is contoured and kept quite close to the head is always appealing.

Deciding on the ideal style is no problem at all at TAVERNWOOD, where you have the friendly assistance of skilled operators. Make your appointment for the most flattering attention your hair has ever experienced — at TAVERNWOOD BEAUTY MANOR & COSMETIC SHOP, 69 Palmer Square West. Open six days a week, plus Thurs. and Fri. evenings. . . . Specialists in permanents and body waves. Phone 924-3883. . . . "Preferred by Particular Women."

A BEARD IS A BEARD IS A BEARD. And by any other name James Lackey still feels it would make him look more distinguished than without one. For more on the advantages and disadvantages of a hirsute chin, see below. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: What is your opinion on beards?

Where asked: Nassau Street.

James Lackey, Hopewell agent for State Farm Mutual, 134 Nassau Street: I like them. And the reason I like them is that if they are kept trimmed and neat-looking, I feel you can be a very distinguished-looking person. A lot of people have told me that they wished they had the nerve to wear one. There are, however, certain types of men who can't wear beards.

Miss Helen Schwartz, 67 Harriet Drive, student at Boston University: I think they do a lot for some men, but I think too many wear them to play the role — the Harvard Princeton bit sort of thing.

Mrs. Anthony Jerome, 25 Pine Street, registered nurse for them; I'd much rather see a clean-shaven face. I think I've seen only one man who remembers that I thought looked attractive in a beard. A clean-shaven face is much more American to me. I think if you're artistic you don't have to wear a symbol to show this. It's pseudo — artistic. It's like wealth; you don't wear diamonds to show you have money.

Sheila Rooks, 152 Guyon Avenue, minimalist: I don't like them. . . . they just never look clean to me. People look unkempt in them.

Mrs. Michael Mahoney, 402 C Butler Avenue, chemist for Princeton University: I like them. As long as a person keeps himself looking neat enough, a beard in fine. It makes a person look interesting. But I don't like to see a shaggy-looking beard and the dirty neck that goes with it.

Miss Bonnie Balo, 38 Horno Lane, medical secretary: I don't like men with beards. Most men who wear them don't look attractive, in my opinion. A few men can — they're the beards — but the majority of men aren't.

Peter Laur, 302 Nassau Street, chemist: Well, evidently I like them or else I wouldn't be wearing one. I just think some people look better with a beard than without. Furthermore, it's not a question of philosophy with me because tomorrow I may shave it off. One reason for growing this is that you don't conform to every respect with persons around you.

Miss Enid Zackheim, 194 Harrison Street N., junior at Boston University: Personally I like them — they give a person a kind of "look" — but you have to be affected. They must keep men warm during the winter.

Leslie Arnerger, student of New Mexico here on a fellowship in public affairs, employee of the National Park Service: I wouldn't happen to care for one myself. It's uncomfortable, it itches, it scratches, and, as far as I'm concerned, it looks like the dickens. It's all a matter of personal preference. I have nothing against those who want to wear a beard.

Mrs. Nora Dobbs, Route 1, housewife: I think, in general, they look rather messy. I'm not opposed to them! Some men look all right in them. But, generally, I still feel they look rather sloppy. I understand it is a hard problem to get one started. That's the problem my husband had. He had it about two months before he shaved it off.

Theodore Zielkowski, 51 College Road, University faculty: They look very fine in pictures but I, personally, wouldn't care to wear one. They're a lot of trouble certainly seems to me it be easier to shave every morning than to have to trim a beard.

Benjamin Rayman, 80 N. Stanworth Drive, civics teacher, Princeton University: I started growing my beard in Europe in 1951 and I've had it ever since. I find it very comfortable, it's convenient and I think it adds to my appearance. I think the itching and so forth varies from person to person. I don't find it myself. In fact, I'm not even aware of its existence. There was one exception. Once, one winter, I was cycling and my breath had condensed and I felt a tug at my chin. I reached up and found a portion of my beard had frozen.

Miss Doris Singletary, Trenton, secretary, Princeton University: I sort of like them. It depends mainly on the man. You have the face for it, first of all, sort of a long, oval face.

"I WANT TO GET TO KNOW OUR READERS," said Robert Staples, Princeton Public Library's new director, on Friday as he pinned up the sign on Fairbridge House door. And get to know them he did as they came thick and fast to return books while he was standing there. Story, this page.

Topics Of The Town

A NEW MAN SIGNS IN

At the Public Library, Shumblers sagged on Friday afternoon as a short-sleeved young man lucked up "Closed" on the Princeton Public Library door.

Borrowers stacked up at the entrance like planes over Kennedy Airport. "It's no inside," he told them. "We've had to close." Affably he offered to take their books.

"Well," said one woman, "wish you would. I didn't like this as much as I liked the Thomas Hardy."

A man with a two-wheeled cart full of books ransacked the come back, because he wanted to use reference materials. Only moaned a little ("This means two trips"), and the books piled up on the door-step.

The new director, Robert Staples, traded comments on books and authors, accepted titles and read the heat. He stumbled into the library during a hot, unloading book at the main desk.

An athletic, quick-spoken man who seemed to enjoy the encounter, he then settled into his tiny, stuffy office up stairs, with the window flimsy shut against flames from a restaurant next door. Thirty-two years old, he has been trained at Utherin, and Columbia. He spoke hopefully of the library's future.

Ten Times as big, "We're just tapping the top of the reading needs of this community," he said. "In the new library, we'll have 30,000 square feet instead of 3,000. Then we'll be able to expand our services.

"We'll be able to spread out our books. Now you have to look in cupboards, behind posts, over doorways, under windowsills. Books are stacked in double rows on the basement shelves, and we have several thousand in storage. We have more than 14,000 registered borrowers, but only 35 can sit down in here at one time."

The library is described by Mr. Staples as "a small but very vital book collection." There are over 42,000 volumes, he said. "This is good, but it is low according to the minimum standards of the American Library Association." About one-third of the collection is out at all times.

The Mission. "The library's mission will become clearer as people find that they can't get service from Firestone," he said. "Mr. Dr. has closed it to all but scholars and students, I believe."

He hopes to super-charge the reference desk, which many people have left alone because the library seems understaffed. Being on the reference desk is a great part of the fun of being a librarian. I'm going to take my turn there every third Saturday. He lives much credit to Mrs. Walter Wainio and Miss Therese Crichtow.

"A librarian has to be a kind of jack-of-all-trades. I have some knowledge of all fields. Readers will call and ask if we have material on the Manhattan Project or if we have anything on Kandinsky."

"I think the girls at the reference desk should scan The New York Times first thing every morning. Sure as anything, someone will call and ask for more information on a particular item I'd like to see us subscribe in the Times' Index. It's an invaluable reference. If we could get the money, we should begin getting the Times on microfilm starting in 1965."

A Few "Is." His voice trailed off a bit as he thought of all the "is" — most of them held down for financial reasons, then he warmed up again.

"I would like to see the Public Library develop some of the business services — such as Moody's Investment Service, Standard & Poor's publications.

"We had this service at the library in Summit. A builder would call up to get a list of boiler manufacturers. He needed estimates. Men came in to look up profit & loss statements on stock they were interested in. It was used a great deal."

He hopes that the library will, in time, have enough personnel to get a 9 a.m. - 9 p.m. hours for the public, instead of the present checkered schedule.

Schools. "The school library," he said in answer to a question of conflict, "is geared around curriculum. The Public Library might have books to enrich the study, or textbooks. Often we might have a more sophisticated book."

THE ANSWER IS...

CERTAINLY!

UNITED FUND — RED CROSS
COMBINED CAMPAIGN

...AND HERE'S THE REASON...

Everyone should know!

There is ONE WAY to do ALL these things—with just —
ONE GIFT
a year—to
Our UNITED FUND—RED CROSS
CAMPAIGN

... BUT SOME OF YOU MAY ASK ...

why? what is the idea behind this ... our ...
U-U-United F-F-Fund campaign? I don't get it ...

... Well, the BIG IDEA is ...

To provide MANY ESSENTIAL SERVICES for MANY people in ONE appeal...
UNITED FUND—
RED CROSS
Combined Campaign is IT!

...OR YOU MAY NOT KNOW...

- ✓ Instead of DOZENS of campaigns all year round... and DOZENS of callers at your home— all of whom look like this:

- ✓ One UNITED FUND—RED CROSS Campaign SAVES...

1. CAMPAIGN COSTS and SAVES

2. You TIME and EFFORT

...AND WONDER WHO RUNS IT...

- ✓ Your FRIENDS and NEIGHBORS run it!

...AND HOW THEY DO IT...

HOW...

Your FRIENDS and NEIGHBORS...

- ✓ ... set the GOAL
- ✓ ... head the CAMPAIGN
- ✓ ... ask for your GIFT
- ✓ ... give it to those VITAL SERVICES which help EVERYONE

because the SUCCESS of the CAMPAIGN is up to

YOU...

... SO ASK US ANOTHER ...

Q.:

"Why can't the UNITED FUND—RED CROSS stop all other campaigns?"

Because the UNITED FUND—RED CROSS is VOLUNTARY

NO agency can be FORCED IN ... BUT any voluntary agency can join if they want to ... if they now raise funds and IF THEIR SERVICES ARE ESSENTIAL!

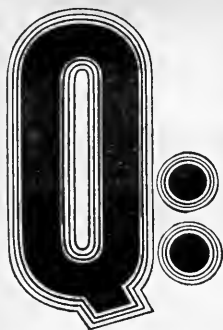

... AND ANOTHER ...

Q.: "Does the UNITED FUND—RED CROSS tell me what I MUST give?"

What you give is STRICTLY up to YOU!

... AND ANOTHER ...

"HOW CAN I TELL WHAT TO GIVE—AND HOW CAN I GIVE?"

Q.: "Should I give at home— or should I give at work?"

Q.: "Why should I give to ALL of the United Fund—Red Cross Agencies?"

... AND NOW SOME ANSWERS ...

"MANY GIVE ONE HOUR'S PAY PER MONTH—OR ENOUGH TO HELP EACH MEMBER AGENCY, IN CASH OR PLEDGE."

A.: "Give where you work ... and give your FAIR SHARE"

A.: "Because ALL agencies are worthy — and need your support — your donation helps support them."

SO PLEASE REMEMBER!

YOU are not being asked for an OUT - OF - POCKET gift...

RATHER, to pledge a SMALL PART

FROM DAFODILS TO MARIGOLDS: In the spring and again in the fall, the gardeners of The Garden Club of Princeton bring their fragrant produce to the French Flower Market across from TOWN TOPICS. On Friday, the first day of the autumn season, the little mart was full of marigolds, late petunias, and all the warmth of fall. The market will be held early each Friday morning so long as the season holds out. (Left to right) Mrs. Charles Biddle and Mrs. Wells Drorovich. (Staff Photo)

"You know, the degree of sophistication in junior and senior high is growing amazingly. I remember the youngsters in Summit who came in and asked questions on the World Bank."

He went on, "It isn't the school's job to introduce a child to books. It's the family's. Lucky is the child whose parents come to the library in the evening and bring him along. The children's librarian, Miss Kirchkesner, will go hand-in-hand with him."

Walking through the library's eleven packed rooms, he said with pleasure, Margaretta Barry and the staff have shown great literary taste in current authors, fiction and non-fiction, books by leading scientists, educators. The book committee has certainly managed to have both sides of a current question represented.

Library Plans. This Wednesday evening the Library Board of Trustees meet in Borough Hall to go over architect's plans for a new building at Witherspoon and Wiggins Streets. On the 23rd, Mrs. E. Baldwin Smith, president of the Board, will report on building plans at the 8 p.m. meeting of the Friends of the Public Library at the Institute for Advanced Study. Both sessions are open.

Mr. Staples, who worked during the summer with the architect, the Board and the library consultant, Emerson Greenaway of the Philadelphia Free Library, says, "We've become very excited."

He hopes the plans, or a reasonable version thereof, are soon approved. He's not a man to relish putting "closed" on the library door.

7 DEBATES SCHEDULED

For Williams and Shanley. A series of seven debates, three of them to be televised, will be held by U. S. Senator Harrison A. Williams Jr. and Senator Charles A. Shanley. Republican senatorial candidate, between Sunday and October 25. One, he held at a meeting of the New Jersey Broadcasters' Association, will take place in Princeton on Monday, October 5.

In addition to the debate scheduled here, there will be platform appearances in Closter this Sunday, in Newark September 26 and in New Brunswick October 13. Televised debates between the two candidates are set for Sunday, October 11, on Channel 10, Philadelphia and Sunday, October 18, on Channel 11, New York, at times to be announced; and on Sunday, October 25, on Channel 4, New York, from noon to 1 p.m. under the sponsorship of the New Jersey League of Women Voters.

Announcement of the debates has been made by State Senator C. Robert Sarcone, Mr. Shanley's campaign manager, and Adrian Foley Jr., campaign manager for Senator Williams. —Continued on Page 22 shaped face. Persons with fat faces don't look good with a beard. Personality is important too. An outgoing fellow looks nice in a beard whereas a quiet one would stand out like a sore thumb. I've seen quite a few persons who have beards that shouldn't have, in my opinion.

Philip Sorensen, 246 Nassau Street, Theological Seminary student: Before I was married, I didn't see too much wrong with them. But since then, I do feel they are conducive to how shall I say it, "dirtyness." They're hard to keep clean—I know from experience. A well-kept beard is nice but it's a pain in the neck to keep neat. Sometimes people wear them just for the object of wearing a beard, not because they really want to Special Bell teaching aids improve science training in local classes.

The Bell System recognizes that no force helping the individual or the nation to grow is stronger than education.
That's why the Bell System has begun a program called "Aids to High School Science." In this program, aids like these are made available to teachers without charge: (1) Color films dealing with diverse scientific fields, (2) Regional meetings for science teachers, (3) And most important—a series of scientific experiment kits developed by the scientists at Bell Laboratories.
The first three of these kits—dealing in such areas as chemistry, physics, and electronics—are now being used by qualified students under the direction of their teachers. More scientific kits are being developed.
Because our business—and your improving telephone service—is based on scientific research, we at the Bell System feel a responsibility toward the education of these bright high school students.
The "Aids to High School Science" program is one way of fulfilling that responsibility.

FIVE YEARS AGO

September 17, 1959. August in Princeton five years ago had gone into the books as one of the hottest and wettest months ever. Nor had there been any letup in early September, which led to TOWN TOPICS' Question of the Week: What do you do to beat the heat?

One cool reply: "I worry about keeping warm... and how to avoid frostbite." The answer came from William Dorman Jr., of Rosedale Lockers, who added "I spend a good part of my day in the freezer, where it's five below zero."

seen the subject of articles which enumerated their unusual qualifications as members of a unique community, had learned the preceding weekend in 1959 that the opinion was not necessarily unanimous. Largely unknown to them, but duly recorded in that Sunday's newspapers, Rutgers' President Mason W. Gross accused them of living — with the rest of New Jersey — "in a cultural desert."

Gross's remarks came during a speech he had made right here in Princeton. General reaction to this "news" was one of forgive and forget, that it was based on a lack of information about the town in which he was giving the speech. If the date-line had been Paramus, for example, instead of Princeton, the accusation probably wouldn't have even made the papers.

The first step along the road to a joint public library for Princeton Borough and Township had just been taken in September, 1959. Governor Meyner had signed a bill permitting creation of joint municipal libraries within the state. But, because any final decision rested with the voters, there was insufficient time to get it on the ballot for that year — and the referendum had to be postponed until 1960.

TEN YEARS AGO

September 16, 1954. A new test, nicknamed "Let's Play Boss," had just been devised at Educational Testing Service by which young men could learn their potentialities as executives.

Known as the "in-basket" test, it was given to an aspiring business boss, who was confronted with an "in-basket" full of letters, memos, etc., calling for action. The examinee was given two hours in which to clear the desk. Membership in "The Diner's Club" was not a prerequisite for taking the exam.

Names in the news ten years ago: Political nominees in the borough included Tristram B. Johnson and Charles J. Rocknack, Republicans, and Miss C. Lawrence Norton (now Lawrence Norris Kerr) and John J. Collins, Democrats — all candidates for Borough Council.

In the Township, Democrats John F. McCarthy Jr., Theodore F. Tams Jr. and Robert W. Sinkler would run against Mayor Albert Salzman, Hugh D. Wise and Ralph S. Mason for Township Committee membership.

Plans to telescope the 1954 Community Chest drive into a nine-day period had been announced by the committee in charge of the fundraising campaign. The goal: $134,680 (this year it's $385,265 for the Princeton Area United Fund) with a comparable increase in area covered and agencies aided.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

September 15, 1949. As the University approached the opening of the new academic year, it was recalled that, 25 years previously, one freshman had arrived secure in the knowledge that he already had one close lie: a nephew of his was about to start his junior year here.

In September 1949, another yearling could be sure of a touch of home if he needed it: his step-father was a senior. The Daily Princetonian's advice to the freshman stepson: "Don't get better marks than he does."

After a two and a half hour meeting in Township Hall, a 4-3 vote by the planning board favored an ordinance which would permit the construction of a shopping center "now known as The Shopping Center). Still, public objection to the proposal had been so strong that chances for final approval looked small indeed for the request which already had been 15 months on application and in discussion.

TOWN TOPICS had made another major jump in expansion — from nine to 15 inches in depth and to a "potential" 12-page issue which might "at a later date mean Thursday delivery throughout the community."

The comparable issue in 1964 which you are now reading is still 15 inches in depth. But there are now six columns per page where then there were only four, and there are now 43 pages where then there were but eight. Delivery by early Thursday, of course, has become routine.

The TV appearances, except for the October 23 telecast, will include five-minute opening statements by each candidate and 16 minutes of questions from a panel of four emcees.

LAWRENCEVILLE OPENS

For its 155th School Year. The Lawrenceville School began its 155th academic year Wednesday with an enrollment of 640 students from 38 states, the District of Columbia, possessions and 19 foreign countries. Of the total, 561 are boarders, and 204 are attending the school for the first time.

There are 96 faculty members. Students and faculty were addressed at convocation exercises on Wednesday by Dr. Bruce McEllan, headmaster.

Seven new members have joined the Lawrenceville faculty. They are: Richard G. Akers, Herman Besselin, Legare W. Cuyler, John W. King, Richard C. Walker, Kenneth W. Wydro and Colston Young.

"WERE FOR JOHNSON"

Valley Road Group Forms A Students for Johnson con-

mittee has been formed at the Valley Road School, according to David Mandel, 18 Harris Road, one of the co-chairmen. It enrolled 30 members in the seventh and eighth grades during its first day of activity.

The other co-chairmen are Simeon Moss Jr. and Kenneth Clothen. The committee has been established to serve three functions.

Its first purpose is to supply as much student aid as it can to the Independent Voters for Johnson organization. Second, it plans to conduct its own campaign among students to further the election of President Johnson, and it also will help in getting people to register and to vote.

MUSIC SCHOOL OPENS

With Largest Enrollment. The professional department of the New School for Music Study, 353 Nassau Street, has begun its fifth season with 18 students taking advanced training in piano pedagogy. The orientation period, in preparation for study and teaching at the school, ends Tuesday.

All of the pedagogy students will take an active part in the teaching program of the school's junior department, which opens on Monday. Enrollment in the professional department is the largest in the school's history.

Nine first-year students have been attending the New School's training program, and three have returned for a second year of training. Two are

Tigers Begin To Take Shape.
The involved process of sorting Princeton's 70-man football squad into offensive and defensive platoons is nearing completion at Blairstown. The end of the pre-season training program is at hand and the players will return to the campus Friday, looking forward to Saturday's closed scrimmage against Lehigh and the opening of the 1964 season with Rutgers on September 26.

Coach Dick Colman and his staff have determined on the most complete use of the liberalized substitution rule that will be permissible this season. Because a team of defensive specialists may suddenly find itself in possession of the ball, with the need to run a few plays, each platoon is being given an 80-20 split in instruction.

This is to say, the offensive players are being taught four parts attack and one part defense. In similar fashion, the defensive platoons are spending 80% of their time learning their basic assignments but devote the remaining 20% to putting the ball in motion.

No player — including the all-around star, Cosmo Iacavazzi — will go both ways. He'll operate entirely on attack, the theory being that he is best saved for blocking and ball-carrying; and should not be exposed to the blocking of opposing players who come in fresh as members of opposing offensive platoons.

Put the Best on the Defense.
Inevitably, some of the top players who helped the Tigers roll up the nation's second best total in yards gained rushing last season will be singled out this fall for defensive duties. With a few exceptions, the logical theory is to assign the best man to defensive platoons; if the other guys can't score, they can't best you.

The Tigers' two fine guards, Paul Savidge and Stas Maliszewski, fit into this category. The latter will be cast in the role of linebacker because of his ability — both as a solid 215 and line to mow down approaching ball carriers.

A sophomore, 6-3, 203-lb. Walt Kozumbo, has earned a starting berth on the defensive platoon at end. Even without the ability to make headlines that is open to members of the scoring unit, he will attract early attention with his smart, rugged play on the flank.

An experienced senior, 5-11, 195-lb. Jim Hackett, is the pick on the other side of the line as defensive end. He is one of three returning regulars from last year's team.

Don Roth in Third Year. Tackle Don Pett, 190-lb. senior, is an snail-tailed snail on the defensive platoon. In addition to Maliszewski, the linebackers will be the veteran Don Roth, 200-pounder who has already been a defensive specialist for two seasons, and Ron Grassman, who has made good progress at Blairstown.

Wingbacks Lynn Sutcliffe and Chuck Merini are leading candidates for defensive halfbacks, with the safety spot up for grabs among senior John O'Brien, sophomore Doug Jamies and one or two others. Two 11-man defensive platoons are being groomed for duty.

What's Up Front? With the use for defensive purposes of such familiar names as Savidge, Maliszewski, Hackett and Pett, O'Brien, sophomore Doug Aside from their decorative qualities, we understand that eyelashes are supposed to indicate definite personal characteristics. Short, straight lashes, for instance, are the sign of a stout, nervous temperament. On the other hand, nicely curved lashes denote a calm, hard-to-ruffle person. Lashes which tend to thin out at their outer ends are said to indicate laziness.

Whatever the indication, people with all manner of eyelashes have one thing in common... they need ample protection from life's hazards. Albeit, the various type persons may go about procuring insurance protection in various ways and manners. But, in the end, they will wind up with about the same fundamental type policies...

WHICH WAY FOR MR. WOOD IN 1964? Dick Wood, Princeton High School football coach, is a study in contrast following the conclusion of two of last season's FHS games. At left, he trudges back to the bench, alone, after his little fingers had been upset, 12-0, in October by Hunterdon Central. At right, he is carried aloft by jubilant

There will be a couple of unknowns on the offensive line. The shortside end will be senior Jack Singer (6-0, 185), a letterman last fall, but the berth on the longside flank figures to go to junior Lawson Casidollan (6-3, 210), who saw virtually no varsity action in 1963.

The tackles are veterans—seniors Ernie Pascarella (225) and Wendall Gady (215)—but the removal of Savage and Malisewski as two-way guards throws those spots on the offensive line open to a quartet of virtual newcomers. In the running on the shortside are junior Dick Jones (190) and sophomore Blair Lee Jr. (194), while on the other side, senior Ned Porter (200) is the probable starter, backed by sophomores Jim Kokoski (190) and Bob Kibalaas (195).

Veterans Mike Smith (190), a senior, and junior K.R. Mil (195) are battling for the offensive center assignment. Under the "one-way" plan, neither will see action as a line backer.

Wingback Still Unsettled. Three of the backs are fixtures—Roy Parronelli at quarter, TOP PROSPECT: Walt Kozumbo has been named by Coach Dick Cohen as the only sophomore to earn a starting role in pre-season training. The 6-2, 203-lb. resident of South Plainfield will play end on the "one-way" defensive platoon. His number, 83, was worn by Frank McPherson, an All-American at Princeton in 1952. PHS FOOTBALL - III

(This is the last in a series of three articles on Princeton High School's football prospects for 1964.)

Quo Vadis, Little Tigers? No one can predict with precision whether the Princeton High School football team is headed this fall for a fine, poor, or so-so season. But in one area—scheduling—there will be, in the future, a degree of certainly hitherto unknown to the Little Tigers.

This certainty over scheduling is one of the fruitful by-products of Princeton's membership in a recognized state conference—the southern division of the Central Jersey championship (which never meant anything because every county high school does not play all the others) there will be a bona-fide conference champion.

Gone, too, will be the annual scheduling additions, deletions and open dates which raised havoc with PHS athletic directors trying to assemble a workable schedule for independent Princeton High. It was not unusual for PHS to drop three opponents and pick up two or three new ones from one year to the next. Many times, it literally did not know where its next opponent was coming from.

All that has changed. For example, coach Dick Wood reported that he already knows the 1965 schedule for PHS. It is identical to the '64 schedule with the exception that Hunterdon Central is replaced by Bridgeville Raritan. This lack of changing and advanced knowledge is unparalleled—and a big asset.

"Going To Be Tough." Conference membership is not going to be all beer and skittles for PHS, however. For one thing, it entails a longer season than PHS has played in the past. "It's the first time," says Wood, "for us to play nine games that I can remember."

For another, PHS will find itself stepping up to Group IV level. It has stepped up a level in competition. "They're all going to be tough," said Wood, adding, "especially in this first year. Every school we play will be bigger than us with the possible exception of Somerville."

(Public high schools in New Jersey are grouped according to school population, the largest being Group IV. A year ago, PHS spilled over into this classification. So the days of playing smaller schools such as Freehold are past, although the Little Tigers have tangled year after year with Group IV schools such as Trenton High.)

Following is a capsule comment on each of the nine teams PHS will meet this fall. The 1962 score against the five teams PHS will queue against this year is in parentheses.

Opener Sept. 26, Hamilton (32-0) against which PHS will open its season a week hence on September 26 is, according to Wood, "getting better. There is no doubt about it." As the score indicates, PHS had an easy time of it against the Hornets, who won only one game this year in any over optimism.

start the season against Hamilton than any of the others.

Thomas Jefferson, next in line, will be a crucial, pivotal contest. If Jefferson fields the caliber of team it has in the past, it will answer early the question: How good are the Little Tigers? Should PHS slip by its northern foe, in this first meeting, it should gain invaluable confidence and momentum.

The same size as Trenton High, Jefferson takes its football seriously, Wood reported. The home town fans—even more so. "It's a tough, tough place to play football," said Wood, and he indicated he looks for the game on the line. A win here and the Blue and White could be off winging.

Even Malek, Hunterdon Central, 9-12, should be an even match, in Wood's opinion. Hunterdon, together with Somerville and Notre Dame, are the three non-conference foes PHS will meet this year.

Speaking of Hunterdon, which surprised everyone by upsetting the Little Tigers last fall, Wood said, "We've semimagined Hunterdon for the last five or six years—that's how I know we're on a pretty even basis." He attributed Hunterdon's success last season to some "dumb football" on the part of PHS and to the fact that Bill Aiken, standout fullback, did not play.

Trenton High (12-7) has always been THE game for PHS. Last year, its coach for many years, Pat Clements, stepped down and Wood reports that he doesn't know what to expect from Clements' successor. It doesn't matter. This year, PHS has always been difficult to predict and past records and comparison of the scores of opponent have been of little value.

Exing (14-6) has a penchant for playing inspired ball whenever it locks horns with the Little Tigers. "They've always been rough against us," said Wood, "and I expect they'll be

Whitely Named by Bowlers

Bill Whitely of Princeton Engine Co. No. 1 has been elected president of the Tri-County Firemen's Bowling League for 1964-65. Other officers are Kenny Luck of Kingston, vice-president; Dick Anderson, Dutch Neck, treasurer; Norman Luck, Kingston, secretary.

Mercer Engine Co. No. 3 had defeated Princeton and 13 other fire companies from the Princeton area for the season and their captains are:

even more so this year."

Chief Tormentor, Somerville (12-12) has tormented PHS teams for years. "We've probably been beaten more by Somerville than by any other team," recalled Wood. Last year's meeting between the two was tight. Somerville completely dominated the first half, but PHS lashed back in the second half. It was the strongest team at the end and would probably have won, had the league continued for a few more minutes.

Steinert (9-10) has been taking kickings the past years and Wood agreed that his team "has a good chance against them." But he added that the Spartans were due to get better and to look past their Notre Dame would be foolish.

Notre Dame may well replace Trenton as THE game. Geographically, it is the closest now of any of Princeton's opponents and this proximity should lead to a growing rivalry between the two.

In the few years Notre Dame has been in existence, its coach, Walt Porter, has compiled a fine record. Last year, both Notre Dame and PHS were tied for the aforementioned "mythical" Mercer County crown. To settle the issue, there was some agitation on the part of Princeton to arrange a post-season game with Notre Dame, but nothing came of it.

So the rivalry is there even before the first kickoff. Said Wood, "Outside of Trenton, I'd like to beat Notre Dame as much as anybody else."

Madison Township, Princeton's final opponent, is largely an enigma. It is a new school—larger than PHS—led by young coach. Aside from that, Wood said he knew little. The Madison encounter, as will all the other eight contests, will be played on Saturday.

How Many? How many games will PHS win? In answer to that question Wood replied, "It's difficult to say, but I still feel we will be able to win five games again this year." The Little Tigers ended with a 5-2-1 mark in 1963.

From here, it looks as if Wood may be more right than wrong. Hamilton, Hunterdon and Steinert should end up in the PHS win column. So should Exing and Somerville with a little luck. But Madison, Notre Dame and Thomas Jefferson, being newcomers, defy pinning down, while PHS clings to its could-go-either-way classification.

In the end, it would seem that the fortunes of the Blue and White will depend on two sizeable "ifs": if it can get by Thomas Jefferson early in the season and without injuries to key players, and if the reserve and new players in the offensive and defensive lines live up to expectations.

MILLER AND GOETZ WIN
As Sailing Resumes, The Carnegie Sailing Club began fall season on the lake Sunday with Dexter Miller and Rick Goetz winning, respectively.

THE BEST NUMBER to call for classified advertising is 924-1200.

Tim Miller served as crew, with his father compiling a 34.5 point total and taking three of the five races. John Reeder, victor in the other two, was runner up; other totals were Phil Hall, 26.0; Bob Wilson, 16.0; Art Keiser, 13.0; Peter Lawson, 12.0; and John Hammer, 6.0.

Rick Goetz had his father, Bill, as crew as he took three of the five races in the GP-14 series and totalled 30.7 points. Victor in the other two was Jerry Lawson, 28.1, followed by Walt Gibson, 20.6; John Hemphill, 11.6; Mars Vanderhaar, 10.0, and Tom Hilton, 8.0.

BOWLING NOTES

Tie in Firemen Opener. In the opening contest in the Tri-County Firemen's bowling league, Mercer Engine Co. 3 and Lawrenceville tied for the lead with six wins each. In second place, with four wins each, were Kingston, K.F.D., Belle Mead and Hook & Ladder.

Frank Stofko's 224 was the highest single game in the league for the week and his 604 was the three-game high. Other high single game scores: Les Luck, 220 and 200; Ken Luck, 212; Jack Petrone, 211; Frank Stofko, 204.

First competition in the Nassau League at Grover Lumber on top with six wins. Tied for second, with four wins, were Tiger Garage, Nassau Delicatessen, Thorne's Reformers and First Aid.

Other standings in the Nassau League: Decker's, Cressents, Cooper & Schafer and Nassau Liquors, two wins each; and Elks, no wins.

Free Eye-Screening Clinics

Princeton Hospital, with other hospitals in the state, will participate in the eighth consecutive year of free eye-screening clinics to detect any evidence of eye disease, such as glaucoma, tumor or cataract, or of any general disease diagnosable in the eyes which needs clinical attention.

Four clinics, to be held in the hospital's outpatient department, are scheduled. They will take place next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 12:30 p.m. to 2 p.m., with an additional session from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday night.

Cooperating physicians in Princeton are: Dr. Henry Abrams, who is in charge of the program here; Dr. Lewis Rampona and Dr. E. Frederick Lschever. All are members of Princeton Hospital's section of ophthalmology.

Topics Of The Town

CONSERVATIVES, ARISE!
Says West Windsor Group. Democrats, independent and Republican conservatives are invited to volunteer their services to the West Windsor Citizens for Goldwater-Miller Committee, Gerald J. Skibbins is the chairman.

Mr. Skibbins points out that men and women in all walks of life are needed for part-time effort in the present campaign. "No matter what your former politics, if you feel this country is overdue for change, please call me at 432-2255; he urged.

FUND DRIVE STARTS

By First Aid-Rescue Squad. Princeton's First Aid and Rescue Squad has started its annual fund drive throughout the Princeton area with the mailing of approximately 11,000 solicitation letters. Funds collected from the campaign will be used for the organization's operating expenses, and any money collected in excess of the amount needed will be applied toward the purchase of a new ambulance.

A First Aid Squad spokesman said that the Princeton unit is hoping for a substantial increase in donations over last year because of the imminent need for a new ambulance. The present ones are four and five years old.

"Before too long," he said, "we will have to replace one of these vehicles—at a cost between $15,000 and $18,000. There has been a steady and continuing rise in requests for our services, so that we now answer over 1,000 calls a year, many of them asking for transportation to out-of-town locations. Like all of our services, these trips are made free-of-charge, but they do, of course, quicken the depreciation of our equipment."

He added "As Princeton grows and Princeton Hospital expands its facilities, so our tasks will certainly grow. But we are confident that the people of the Princeton area will continue to give us the support necessary for us to keep pace with these increasing needs."

OCTOBER DRIVE PLANNED
By PTA Fund Committee. Throughout October, the Scholarship Fundraising Committee of Princeton High School Parent-Teacher Association, aided by parent volunteers, will conduct a drive to acquaint residents of Princeton and PHS sending districts with the services provided by its magazine agency. At the same time, it will strive to obtain new and renewal subscriptions. A brief meeting and tea will be held September 29 at 3:30 in the high school's senior social room for those taking part in the drive. Solicitors will obtain their materials for the drive at this time.

TODDLER SCHOOL BEGINS

Next Monday at YMCA. The YMCA Toddlers School will begin its fall schedule Monday, September 28, and run through September 19. Registrations have already passed the Y office.

Now in its eighth year, the program is planned to help three, four and five-year-olds prepare for school. Classes in the Toddlers School are limited to 12 children and youngsters may come for only one session a week to a maximum of four. Instructors are qualified teachers of primary education and have additional skills in the arts.

Class activities are planned to help children gain a basic understanding of farm, color and numbers. The children are encouraged to learn and create with easel painting, clay modeling, crayon and finger work. Story hours are designed to stretch imaginations and encourage questions.

Social etiquette and learning how to get along with others are other areas of concern. The entire program is explained in a brochure, which may be obtained from the YMCA on Avalon Place.

WEAVERS TO MEET

Plans Fall Classes. The Princeton Weavers Guild meets at 8 p.m. next Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Sarah George, 16 Harrison Street. Mrs. Wallace Hoisington will report on the World Crafts Congress and show craftwork slides.

Weaving classes begin September 28 and run for 10 weeks. Day classes, held Mondays at 10 and 2:30, will be taught by Mrs. Hoisington. Miss Emily Post is in charge of the beginners classes, set for 7:30 and 9:30 Tuesday evenings. The fee is $15. Application may be made to Mrs. Hoisington, DA 9-2611.

ANTIQUES LECTURE SET

To Benefit Hospital. Auctioneer Lester M. Staloff will again conduct the "Know Your Antiques" lecture series sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of Princeton Hospital. The program is scheduled for Thursday, September 24 to December 3, in the assembly room of First Presbyterian Church.

Among the topics are: period furniture, old and new silver, American and European glass, discerning the genuine antique, wood identification and china-ware. There will be refashioning demonstrations, and at the two final sessions, Mr.

News of The CHURCHES

TRADITION REVIVED

At Trinity Church, Aiken - One of the friskiest little boys, aged 9 to 12, have been appearing at Trinity Church all week to audition for chorobos.

The white-haired, tweedy man in his early fifties who puts down his pipe to hear them is Robert Hobbs, described by his former organ pupil, President J. E. Bristol Jr., of Westminster College, as "the greatest of the greatest of chorobos leaders in the mid-west."

Raymond Rudy, Trinity's organist and choromaster who resigned two years ago, held on through last year until his life-long friend could leave Trinity Church Cathedral, Indianapolis.

"He expects the best," Dr. Bristol says of Mr. Hobbs. "Lots of discipline, reverence and music all rolled up into one. He achieves a wonderful tone with his choirs, when he was growing up in Westfield, Mass. He has at St. Paul's. In fact, my first acquaintance with Princeton was when he was preparing his choir to sing at Trinity."

"The Church is Number One in his life. He's a very accomplished organist in his own right. He has a delightful sense of humor. I would call him a prematurely gray, lighter edition of Robert Morley - the great English actor who wrote 'Edward, My Son'."

Twenty females, Mr. Hobbs, now installed as organist and choromaster, talked about his plans last week. "Trinity has always had a great tradition of the singing of boys and men," he reminded. "We want to develop a male choir for the 11 a.m. service, in addition to the girls and ladies choir which will sing at 9."

"The goal, at first, is 20 voices. Perhaps the second year we will aim for 40, and the third year, 60," he says, adding that he expects to have girls, as well as boys, in the choir.

"I don't want to have the boys and girls sing to other boys, as many churches do. Although they love the girls, as we all know, they tend to be a bit shy about the singing."

"I want to have the boys and girls sing to each other, and then to the choir, as we have done in the past. Mr. Hobbs cut out his pipe and went on. "It takes me one or two years of this sort of thing to learn a boy of reasonable intelligence and ability. We start at 9, because that is the age when he is usually to that."

smart — he can't read the words fast enough. He plans to recruit also from teenagers and men.

Divided into Groups, "We divide the chorobos like soldiers. There will be a group in each of all disciplines — men, who are the boys most experienced and have learned their craft."

Next are the Singing Boys, who have achieved some degree of skill, but are still learning. Then, I hope, there will always be a class of professional boys who will have to be taught rudiments and choir notation. We pay them a nominal salary."

The boys will meet two afternoons a week after school, 5 to 6 p.m. In Indianapolis, they played for supper on Thursdays and then sang with the men in the evening. We gave concerts and toured. It became for those boys a sort of way of life."

He plans to teach them the church music of the English cathedral tradition and the best of the contemporary, with snattering from the German school of Bach and his students. It will be a varied program."

Mr. Hobbs is immensely proud of the fact that St. Agnes' Ed, composed by Dr. Bristol, has been dedicated to him. "I plan to use it often," he says. Hobbs has high praise for the work of Thomas Hillish, conductor of the Princeton High School choir. "The choir's very well known in the mid-west."

Mr. Hobbs, who was treble soloist at Trinity Church, Cranford, when he was nine years old, later came also with the choir. He took organ lessons and became the church organist and choromaster at age 19.

"If you think about it," he said, "boys are the oldest such movement in the world."

ENGLISH APPROVED

For Use in Sacraments, Bishop George W. Ahr, now attending the Vatican Council in Rome, has directed all priests of the Trenton Diocese to use English instead of Latin in the celebration of the sacraments, sacramentalists beginning this week.

Celebration of the Mass in English is expected to start on the first Sunday of Advent, November 29.

Bishop Ahr noted in his letter to the clergy that while English is expected to be substituted in English, the bilingual, when sung, shall remain in Latin. He mentioned that the English text used must be in accordance with the approved liturgical books.

Columbia University. A memorial service will be held in the First Presbyterian Church. Arrangements were under direction of the Mather Funeral Home.

Mrs. Adelina Taraschi, 76, of 226 John Street, died September 9 in Princeton Hospital. She was the widow of Pasquale Taraschi.

A member of the Daughters of Italy, she was born in Italy and arrived in this country in 1904. Surviving are a son, Pasquale; five daughters, Mrs. Josephine Zecola, Mrs. Edith Caponi, Mrs. Helen Pennington and Mrs. Mary Zorochin, all of Princeton; 14 grandchildren and one brother in Italy.

Solemn religious mass was held in St. Paul's Church. Interment was in the parish cemetery of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Mrs. Maria G. Proaccino, 72, of 299 Witherspoon Street, died suddenly September 11 in Princeton Hospital. She was the wife of Dominick Proaccino.

Born in Italy and a Princeton resident since she was two years old, Mrs. Proaccino was a member of the Marconi League of Princeton.

Also surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Emma Carnevale of Princeton and Mrs. Nell Palmato of Trenton; seven sons, Nicholas, Joseph, Ernest and Ralph all of Princeton; Albert and John of Trenton; and Alexander of Kingston; 20 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

A requiem high mass was celebrated in St. Paul's Church. Interment was in the parish cemetery, under direction of Kimble Funeral Home. Memorial gifts may be sent to the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad.

John J. Walklet, 65, of 29 Inwood Avenue, Princeton, died September 13 at his home after a long illness. The husband of Katherine S. Walklet, he was a retired engineer for the New Jersey Highway Department.

Also surviving are two sons, John J. Jr., of Williamsburg, Va., and Richard H. of New Canaan, Conn.; one daughter, Thomas Pennington of Levittown, Pa.; two brothers, Charles H. of Pennington and Donald of Akron, O.; and Mrs. Hazel Walklet of Trenton, and 13 grandchildren.

The service was held in Pennington, the Rev. Arthur S. Munson of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church officiating. Interment was in Riverview Cemetery, Trenton.

Mrs. Anna M. Breese, 79, of Ridge Road, Monmouth Junction, died September 13 in St. Peter's Hospital after a brief illness. She was the widow of James L. Breese.

Born in Brooklyn, Mrs. Breese was a longtime resident of South Brunswick Township. She was a life member of Livingston Park PTA, a member of Unity Council No. 3, Sons and Daughters of Liberty of New Brunswick, Lady Mounover Lodge 9, Shepherds of Bethlehem of Hightstown, and Golden Rod Council No. 20, Daughters of America of New Brunswick.

Surviving are two sons, John L. Breese Jr. of Princeton Junction and William H. Hayes of Franklin Township; three daughters, Mrs. John Yaros, with whom she lived; Mrs. Chester Mergogey of Spotswood and Mrs. Josephine of South River; a sister, Mrs. Emma Sherman of Brooklyn; 13 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The service was held in Cranbury, the Rev. John Mahay of Miller Memorial Church officiating. Interment was in Dayton Cemetery.

Staford will be the first of activities members bring to class. In the past, many have discovered they have been in position of extremely valuable pieces.

Open to the public, the advanced group will meet at 10 a.m., beginners at 1:30 p.m. The fee is $25 for the 10 weeks' course. Checks, payable to Princeton Hospital, should be mailed to: Shirley M. Porter, LRA, Provincetown Road.

COFFEE KLATCHES SET
By Women Voters. The non-partisan League of Women Voters of the two townships' community has planned a series of neighborhood coffees next Tuesday for prospective members. All are scheduled for 8:15 p.m.

Area hostesses this Monday are: Riverside, Mrs. Gino Treves, 9 Adams Drive; Lake-Andre Apartments, Mrs. Ronald Andre, 352 Hibernia Apartments. On Tuesday, West Windsor, Mrs. John Dismukes, 1007 Cliff Lane, Princeton Junction; and Shadybrook - Snowden Lane, Mrs. William Angoff, 19 Meadowbrook Drive.

Wednesday, September 23, West Windsor, Mrs. Oakes Oakes, 1007 Cliff Lane, Princeton Junction; Thursday, September 24, Montgomery Township, Mrs. Roy McKenna, Green Avenue, Belle Mead.

RAYMOND MALE TO SPEAK
To Children of American Revolution. Young members of the CAR will bear an address, "The CAR and the Future," by Raymond Male this Saturday at a New Jersey Tercentenary Silver Tea, sponsored by the New Jersey Society, CAR, in the social hall of the Methodist Church.

Eight new members of Rowan Society will be welcomed Monday. They are Lucy Ann Rehrig, Ray Mount David Christensen, Jill Houghton, James Houghton, J. A. J. Fligg, Janet Fligg and Eric Reichardt.

After the showing of slides on homes of American composers, refreshments will be served. Mrs. A. C. Cornish, Regent of the Princeton DAR, will present Mr. Male to the CAR gathering.

TO HOLD MEETING
Of Delta Gamma Chapter. The Princeton - Delaware Valley Chapter of the Delta Gamma Alumnae Association will hold its first meeting of the season Monday evening at 8 at the home of Mrs. John M. Cannon of Penn-Lyn Road, Princeton Junction.

Mrs. Alex Robinson, president, will report on the Delta Gamma bi-annual convention held at Miami Beach in July. Under discussion in the first meeting will be the Chapter's annual Christmas project and its project of Sight Conservation and Aid to the Blind.

NEW EXHIBIT OPENS
At Local Gallery. Richard Florheim's 53rd one-man show will be the view at Gallery 100, Nassau Street, through October 10.

Unable to find a market for his work before the war, Mr. Florheim is now represented in the major museums of Europe and America. His painting, "Night City," is included in the text "Three Hundred Years of American Paintings," edited by Alexander Eliot.

SCOUTS NEED LEADERS
For Girl Scout Council. Courses in group leadership for Girl Scout leaders at various levels of experience will be given this fall by the Mercer Girl Scout Council Inc. starting September 29. All new leaders are required to take the leadership course. In addition, the Council will offer a workshop for leaders entering the Cadette level for the first time and for leaders in the Junior level. Training for Neighborhood Service Teams will start on September 24 and there will be a Travel Arts Caravan which will demonstrate arts and crafts for different age levels. Registration must be made a week in advance for the courses. Detailed information and application blanks are available at the Mercer Girl Scout Council office, 25 Lexington, Trenton (933-0039).

WATER COMPANY CAN GROW
Expanded water company service in Princeton Township was approved this week by the State Board of Public Utilities Commissioners.

The Princeton Water Company, whose operations have been restricted to the Borough and a portion of the Township, will now be a head throughout the Township. Permission to use all streets in the Township was granted by Township Committee last spring, and the Princeton Water Company then applied to the PUC for the required formal approval.

According to the PUC report, the Princeton Water Company has an estimated potential customer increase of about 100 customers a year for the next two years. The company has an application for rate increase pending before the PUC.

FIELD DAY PLANNED
In Monticemy Township. A Field Day, planned by the Montgomery Township Recreation Commission, is scheduled for Saturday, September 26, with a rain date of October 3. It will be held from 10 to 4 p.m. at the field on Route 206 between the Belle Mead fire house and the Belle Mead branch of the First National Bank of Somerset County.

According to the chairman of the event, Clifford R. Dunn, activities will include relay races, pony rides, an obstacle race, handball, and contests as broad and high jumping and 50 and 100 yard dashes.

Prizes will be awarded winners in all events.

SETS MEMBERSHIP SET
For Sunday. The Princeton branch of the American Association of University Women will hold its annual membership tea on Sunday from 3 to 5 in the lounge of the Princeton YWCA, Avalon Place. Mrs. Everett C. Preston, past state president of the organization, will speak on "The Functions and Purposes of the AAUW." Women in the greater Princeton area who are university or college graduates are invited to attend and consider joining the group. Additional information may be obtained from the membership chairman, Mrs. Charles E. Matthews, 401 Walnut Lane.

ANTIQUE SHOW LISTED
By Lions Auxiliary. The Princeton Lions Auxiliary will hold an outdoor antiques show and sale at the Valley Road School October 10 from 9:30 to 4:30 to celebrate their 13th anniversary.

The Auxiliary is sponsoring its show as part of its fund-raising projects. Each year, the group has given a Princeton High School girl a nursing scholarship. It also supports Princeton's welfare and community projects.

MEETING THURSDAY
Of Lawrenceville PTA. The Lawrenceville Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association will meet Thursday in the school's all-purpose room, starting with a covered dish at 7 p.m. Mrs. Nathan Ryan, president.

ident, will preside at the 8 p.m. business meeting.

The speaker will be Charles E. Brewin Jr. Hostesses are Mrs. Jeremiah Kaufman, Mrs. Leslie White, Mrs. Louis Tarran, Mrs. Manfred Piper, Mrs. Anthony Durkett, Mrs. Gatch Dale, Mrs. Alfred Flinn and Mrs. Walter Klockner. Mrs. Donald Hugh, hospitality chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Cecil Barton and Mrs. John Zvosek.

REAL ESTATE

Capacious West End Colonial

Ensnored happily against a background of lovely tall trees on three sides and facing a quiet Township street, this brick and shingle Colonial has a nicely settled in look that belies its mere 4 years. However, youth, construction and fine care have combined to keep it in excellent condition, particularly remarkable for a house that was built for and inhabited by a big family. Virtually every room in the house is large to extra-large; closets are innumerable (several are walk-ins); storage space is almost unlimited.

Entrance hall, living room, library, dining room, marvelous modern family kitchen with eating extension, laundry, powder room are on the 1st floor. Upstairs are 5 lovely double bedrooms and 3 tiled baths. Downstairs (actually basement but with nothing visible to remind you of it) is almost all paneled and includes playroom with built-in bar, large bedroom, real working study, storage or workroom and, essential if not exciting, heater room. 2 acres, 2 car garage, about 2 miles from town center, 2 minutes from Johnson Park School.

ELECTRIC LIVING GUIDE

FAREWELL TO THE FURNACE

Electrical Heating Saves Space

We don't have to have a man come and clean the furnace this year.

Why?

"Because we don't have a furnace any more and we never had such perfect heating in all our lives."

Five years ago that might have sounded like part one of "Riddle Me This." Today it could be any one of nearly two million American home owners who've discovered the practical miracle of complete electrical home heating systems.

QUALITY WORTH IT

Says one of the area's leading electrical contractors:

"Heavy housepower wiring and electrical heating, even the installation costs, are most reasonable in themselves."

"But if by chance insulation has been stunted, put whatever money you have to into bringing it up to standards. There are several very sound reasons:

- "Maximum heating is delivered to the rooms, right where you want it. Good construction is an ally to your using the heat instead of wasting it through leaky windows or too scanty wall or ceiling insulation.
- The heating system can be expected to last the life of the house. . . so you won't have to re-do it.
- Electrical heating in a well-built house holds up its value.

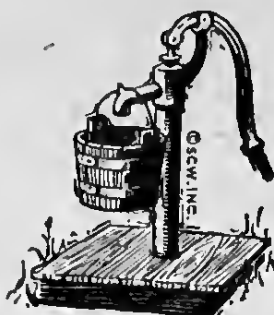

EQUIPMENT INCONSPICUOUS

In addition to the space-saving effected by "no furnace" considerable room space is salvaged too. There are no bulky radiators. The three most popular types for this part of the country are:

- Electrical Baseboards. Not much thicker than an ordinary baseboard they pose no interference to decorating and furniture arrangement. If a flush wall appearance is preferred, electrical baseboards can be recessed.
- Radiant Ceiling Cable. This is actually invisible since it is covered by plaster.
- Wall Panels. In this area these are more apt to be used in conjunction with electric baseboards or ceiling cable for certain locations.

UP-DATE... ANTIQUE HEATING NOW!

This elegant relic reminds us of by-gone days. Be elegant, better your days ahead with total electric home heating.

QUESTION BOX

Q. Are requirements for home construction utilizing electrical heating the same the country over?

A. Since we're not sure if the question means the standards for electrical heating equipment and the installation of it. . . or if you are asking about the established insulation standards. We'll try to answer both. Quality equipment and installation (by an experienced electrical contractor) have to meet a common standard to be eligible for the Gold Medallion.

As far as the recommended insulation for electrically heated homes, that has been established in relation to climate.

Taking basement wall insulation as a guide here are the recommendations for the three climate zones in the United States:

- Usually mild winters (such as Atlanta - Dallas) - R-7.
- Usually normal winters (such as New York - St. Louis) - R-8.
- Usually severe winters (such as Buffalo - Minneapolis) - R-11.

In some portions of a dwelling there is also a range recommended. It is up to the expert who knows the terrain to determine whether the minimum or maximum should be used.

Q. Is electrical heating primarily for small home use?

A. No, it's proven an amazingly fast growing trend in private homes. . . and not just small ones.

However, it's proven practical and popular in large structures. Chicago's new skyscraper-twin apartment houses are totally heated by electricity. So are many schools, hospitals, factories and commercial structures around the country.

Q. When is the best time of year to convert to electrical heating?

A. Any time. We always say, "the sooner the better." Actually almost as many conversions are done in the winter as in the summer.

LUXURY RANCH APARTMENTS

Brandywine at Brielle

It is virtually impossible to describe adequately the new luxury ranch apartments, Brandywine at Brielle.

You must see for yourself its privately-owned curving streets; quietly gaslit and lined with native laurel and great trees, to appreciate the beauty that is here.

FOR THOSE WHO CAN AFFORD THE VERY BEST, here has been created a cluster of seventeen individually designed homes, each containing four luxurious and beautifully distinguished ranch apartments.

From your very first glimpse of the real wood burning fireplace in the lovely living room, you will know that no refinement of detail has been overlooked. That will add to the comfort and gracious living of those who make Brandywine their home — the spacious bedroom with its private dressing room and full-length mirror walls, the handsome "Brandywine Room" with its rich wood paneling, the tremendous storage room downstairs, and large attached garage.

Here indeed are all the privacy and spaciousness of a privately owned home, without any of the problems and responsibilities and expenses of home ownership and maintenance.

The $225 monthly rental represents the TOTAL cost. It includes year-round heating and air conditioning (individually controlled), all gas for cooking and clothes drying (your own private laundry has water heater, automatic washing machine and dryer) and all electricity.

MANY, MANY YEARS AGO "A. G. I. VOLUNTEER" OF THE CONTINENTAL ARMY walked with two of his sons to Princeton for a battle. He was John Hart, 65 years of age, a signer of the Declaration of Independence from the town of Hopewell, county of Hunterdon, province of New Jersey. No area has a prouder record of faithfulness to FREEDOM than the land WEST of Princeton.

NOW ON THIS SATURDAY, September 19, there will be activities from 10 a.m. until the evening fireworks at the Hopewell Borough Tercentenary. At 8 p.m., a pageant, with a cast of over fifty residents will be presented, depicting scenes from the three hundred years of Hopewell's history. Fireworks will close the evening. It seems only fitting, with all the automobiles and good roads of today, that a few of you good Princeton neighbors get over this way Saturday. Princeton was helped a number of times in the past, if you look at the record, so it's about time a few of you people ventured beyond Mount Rose and paid us a visit.

*It is a location thick with rustling trees...spiced with babbling brooks...enjoying the satisfying sights and sounds, the welcome of the woods. Balcort at Princeton is a quiet cul-de-sac cut into the woods
...yet very much a part of Princeton Township's convenient, cultivated life. It is walking distance to the Stuart School; offers free bus service to Johnson Park Elementary School and to the Princeton High School.*

Princeton's most successful custom builders...
Their names are Edward Sands and Ted Dean...Sandeand Construction, Inc. During each of the past six years, these two long-time residents of Princeton built more custom and semi-custom homes in Princeton than any other builder. Many of the finest families in Princeton know Sandeand's penchant for quality, tradition and the well-considered use of rustic surroundings. The beautiful woods of Balcort at Princeton will part gently for - and blend beautifully with - your custom home by Sandeand. THE REAL McCoy Known by its deed to have been built during the very early Eighteenth Century, this little charmer has just undergone the cleverest renovations. The wide front hall is graced by an intriguing aoliue stairway and opens to two living rooms, each with corner fireplace (only one operable). The inviting country kitchen adjoins a sunny breakfast room. Modern laundry and lavatory complete the ground floor. Upstairs, there are three bedrooms (two with the original ceiling beams exposed) and two baths. Wide pine floors, old chair rails and moldings, and some ancient window glass fill out the picture. One acre with trees. Just off the Great Road in Montgomery Township.
